Demolition work fails to halt pool campaign

A TOASTER is believed to have caused a fire at the Clarendon Institute in Walton Street Oxford, on Thursday filling streets with smoke.

Staff were evacuated with one person treated for minor injuries. The building is home to Oxford University's Centre for Jewish and Hebrew Studies, but no books were damaged.

SAVE Temple Cowley Pools campaigners are refusing to give up despite demolition having started on the site.

The work by developers Catalyst Homes to knock down Temple Cowley Pool and Fitness Centre in Temple Road, Oxford, began on Friday despite protests.

The campaigners have accused Oxford City Council of misleading the public over the sale of the land after claiming they were denied access under Freedom of Information legislation to details of a 999-year lease signed by the local authority in its deal with Catalyst Homes.

The council however denies the claims and say the site now belongs to the developers after it was sold to them for £3.6 million in 2014.

Nigel Gibson, director of the SaveTCP campaign said: "We are at the site daily to see what is going on and it's a great shame to see it being demolished.

"We are obviously very disappointed that they are carrying on. We are doing everything that we can to stop it and to say there's no reason for them to take down this building at this point. They [the city council] say that they have signed a contract of sale but they have never shown us and, in any case, the planning application has not gone through yet. Why not wait until after the planning application?

"All we can do is watch and wait. It's a senseless act. We will be submitting objections to the planning application."

In response to the campaigners arguments, council leader Bob Price said: "It's perfectly well known that the site is owned by Catalyst: the council signed on a 999 year lease. We don't have any material interest in it any longer.

"They [Catalyst] are the owners of the land and it is perfectly normal for a developer who has purchased a site with buildings on it to start clearing it for

WITH HEARPLAN
YOU HAVE PEACE OF MIND

Normally when you buy hearing aids you are also paying for all of your initial assessments, fitting fees and ongoing hearing tests and care but we realise that paying for all of this in one go can sometimes be prohibitive and not all hearing aid users require the same level of aftercare and end up paying for something they do not use. So we have introduced HearPlan.

For a monthly subscription you will receive:

- All of the care and support you need to improve your hearing
- £200.00 off the cost of each hearing instrument
- Preferential pricing on new technology if you choose to upgrade your hearing aid
- Offers on accessories that you may need to help you hear in every environment.

Reports published on council change

TWO independent reports costing £200 000 and reviewing the structure of the county s councils, were published yesterday, revealing local authorities could save up to £113 million over five years

Currently running as a two-tier system, the councils were looking to strike a deal to become a single unitary authority in order to receive more powers from central Government.

By Dominic Thomas

The reports were commissioned in April before the Government told the councils that there would only be a devolution deal if both sides were to work together as the district councils plans had previously tried to make the case for abolishing the county council. Since then their publication had been postponed

County council leader Ian Hudspeth said. "I welcome publication of both reports together so residents and everyone else with an interest in public service improvement can make up their own minds

"It is clear that real progress will only be made through joint working with the districts and other public service providers, and I will do whatever I can to make sure that happens."

Meanwhile Vale leader Matthew Barber on behalf of the district and city leaders, said: "The district councils favour three unitary councils working together through a combined authority, while the county concludes that a single authority would be the best option

"It is clear that the new Government s priorities in this area have changed and they are looking to councils to develop consensus

"There are also many commonalities in the findings of the two studies and it is important that all councils now take some time to fully consider all of the evidence and how this might fit with the government s priorities."

PwC's report for the districts revealed that several of the options for the district authorities would still mean an annual deficit for the city council over the next five years

However it claimed all of their options from having one authority to four, would result in overall savings of between £57 million and £113 million over five years

The county s report, by Grant Thornton, also found that the single authority would be the most cost-effective, saving about £20 million a year by its estimations

However the reports also looked at the distribution of services, for which a larger system, made up of four authorities, would provide more democratic accountability and noted that a single authority could be too remote

You can read the reports on the councils websites.

Leadership contender makes Europe pledge

LABOUR leadership candidate Owen Smith promised he would make a case to remain in the European Union if he was the party's next leader at a speech in Oxford on Tuesday

The Pontypridd MP addressed an audience of Labour members numbering in the hundreds at Wesley Memorial Church in New Inn Hall Street.

Mr Smith shared his views and objectives on the future of the Labour Party while also taking questions from the audience in Oxford where over 70 per cent voted Remain in the EU referendum.

The challenger said. "The greatest token of our failure as a party is the fact that we are leaving the European Union

"We should have fought harder, Jeremy should have fought harder

"But we didn't and in so doing we let the Labour Party down and in my view let the country down.

"We've been a weak opposition for the last six years, not just with Jeremy

"My message is that there is no binary choice that we face in the Labour Party between principles and power, and there is no shame in seeking power"

In a Q&A with the audience, he said of his stance on Europe: "If people voted out in good faith and if we feel that that is wrong, then we should be prepared to make a case for staying in the EU on their behalf in order to improve their livelihoods."

After the speech, one member of the audience publisher Heather Benn, 33, of Oxford, said. "I don't think there s any shame in voting for Corbyn s values in a more marketable version which is what I think we were seeing this evening."

One person hurt as staff are evacuated from Institute

Crews tackle blazing roof

By Dominic Thomas

A TOASTER fire at the Clarendon Institute in Oxford broke out on Thursday filling the city centre with smoke.

Staff were evacuated and one person was treated for minor injuries as firefighters blocked off Walton Street in Jericho to deal with the blaze.

Five fire crews were called to the Institute, the University's centre for Hebrew and Jewish Studies at about 1.45pm.

The blaze, believed to have been started by a toaster in an upstairs office, ripped through part of the building's roof creating a lot of smoke.

Clouds of smoke were seen filling nearby St John's Street before the fire was contained and put out within two hours.

Eyewitness Dr Bernard Cadogan said: "I was going up St Giles and I was astonished at what looked like a cloud of dust.

"I could smell that it was a fire. I walked down Pusey Street and it looked like the whole road was on fire so I went down to the back and saw it was coming from the Clarendon Institute.

"The smoke was billowing out. It was trapped inside the roof and smoke was rising through the tiles. It was a great quantity of white smoke so it must have been lots of wood and paper burning."

Meanwhile, bookshop owner Patrick Curran, who runs his store just down the road from the Institute, said: "I looked down the road and the smoke was rising over the street.

"There were two fire engines in the street tackling the blaze. There was quite a lot of smoke all down the street.

"I heard from one of the staff from the Institute that it was a toaster that started the fire."

A statement from Oxfordshire Fire and Rescue Service said: "When crews arrived, the fire had spread from a second floor office into the roof space above.

"Fire crews using breathing apparatus and hoses tackled the fire from within the building and stopped it spreading throughout the roof space.

"At its height, there were five fire engines and a hydraulic platform at the scene with 28 firefighters tackling the blaze.

"The cause is being investigated by a specialist team and early indications suggest that it started in a toaster."

The University communication office released a statement, saying: "We understand that all occupants of the Clarendon Press Institute Building on Walton Street are safe and well.

"We would like to offer our thanks to Oxfordshire Fire and Rescue Service and the South Central Ambulance Service for their speedy and professional response this afternoon.

"We are happy to report that no books were damaged."

building. I think [SaveTCP] are misleading their followers and failed to take any account of the decisions made during the process and are misleading their supporters."

A plan for 48 homes on the site is due to come forward in October, with campaigners having already lodged more than 180 complaints.

Councillor Price said: "We designated the site because of the great need for housing in the area.

"The application is due to have a significant proportion of social housing. It is a good development for the site."

A statement from Catalyst said: "After conducting the necessary legal surveys relating to the protection of birds and bats, we have begun to soft-strip the on-site building.

"This involves removing loose fittings and any items that can be recycled. It is the start of the process for clearing the site so that we can begin building 48 new homes for local people."

Watchdog labels village care home 'inadequate'

By Dominic Thomas

A CARE home in Steventon has been rated inadequate in a report by the Care Quality Commission (CQC).

The watchdog identified five different breaches of the Health and Social Care Act 2008 in its inspection of Oasis Private Care in Hanney Road in May.

The report published on Friday recorded the home's failure to report safeguarding incidents to the CQC including one where a person alleged a member of staff assaulted them.

The report found that staff doing home visits were regularly late and, in some cases, did not turn up at all leaving service users feeling unsafe with one saying it left them 'helpless and scared'.

It said the manager, when asked, was unable to produce a sufficient staff rota.

The report rated the care home inadequate in two areas – its safety and whether the service was well led.

It said the home also required improvement in two other areas – being responsive and effective.

However it was rated 'good' for being caring.

During the inspection, it was discovered that staff did not make adequate notes to ensure patient safety and, in one case left no instructions to staff as to why one patient required handrails on their bed.

The report said: "Staff were not provided with guidance to enable them to keep this person safe effectively. This put the person at risk."

In another instance, a diabetic person's care plan appeared blank, with no indication of their diabetes. There were found to be unsafe moving and handling practices in place, with one member of staff moving a patient on their own when another worker failed to turn up.

In the response to the report a manager at the home said: "I am in the middle of contesting the report. This is not a true or factual report. They did not carry out the report properly."

In regards to the allegation of assault, she said the CQC had 'not even seen the care plan for that person'.

Scientist tackles charity trek

AN Oxford scientist is gearing up for a gruelling non-stop 100km trek to raise money for Alzheimer's Research UK.

Francesca Nicholls, who works at the charity's Oxford Drug Discovery Institute, will be one of dozens of people taking part in Race the Tide next month.

It is a 30 hour endurance event along St Cuthbert's Way in Northumbria.

Race the Tide covers a route stretching from Melrose in the Scottish Borders to Lindisfarne off the Northumberland coast.

Dr Nicholls and her fellow walkers will have 30 hours to complete the 100km challenge before the finishing point is cut off by the oncoming tide walking through the night to reach the finish line.

With more than 8 000 people in Oxfordshire living with dementia, Dr Nicholls, 31, was inspired to sign up for the challenge after seeing first-hand the research supported by the charity.

She said: "People have been really generous, and I'm sure that's because so many people are affected by dementia."

Jade Kolph of Alzheimer's Research UK said: "We're delighted that Francesca is joining us for Race the Tide – it's a big challenge but we know it will be a fantastic event with a hugely committed group of fundraisers."

W OXON West Oxfordshire District Council is consulting with residents overamendments to its council tax reduction scheme which if agreed would come into effect from April 2017

The scheme supports people on low incomes by reducing their council tax payments.

The amendments would.

- Limit the number of dependent children within the calculation to a maximum of two
- Reduce the period a person can be absent from Great Britain and still receive a reduction to four weeks
- Reduce backdating for new claims from six months to one month.

The consultation deadline is October 28 and a report will be considered by councillors in January 2017

Classic Cowley cars celebrated

MORE than 300 classic cars were on display on Sunday to celebrate Oxfordshire s rich motor manufacturing heritage.

The ninth annual Cowley Classic Car Show and Family Fun Day was held off Marsh Lane Marston, to celebrate vehicles produced at the plant, opened by Wilham Morris in 1912.

The event was run by the Oxford Isis Rotary Club and raised money for the charity See Saw which supports bereaved children and young people

Organiser Tanya Field, whose great grandfather was the financial backer of Morris in 1912, was also in attendance

Mrs Field who organised a convoy of classic cars on the day, said "It was brilliant. It s really important to keep celebrating Cowley manufacturing and tell the younger generations about it.

"I brought my Rover 800 along and spoke to somebody who had worked on them for 30 years and had a good laugh about how the electrics don't work properly

"There were also people who worked there, which is important. They love to see the cars they built and to be able to share their stories with the owners "

The day before Mrs Field also hosted an exhibition of cars at Templars Square shopping centre in Cowley where she shared more stories of the factory

"It was my third year at the centre and people know I'm there so they brought all sorts of things like their long-service watches certificates clocking-in cards It s lovely that they want to come and share them "

Meanwhile, Malcolm Fearn, who helped organise the event for Rotary, said. "We had more cars than ever before about 300 ranging from cars to military vehicles and tractors

"It s of especial interest to Oxfordshire people who come along who were involved in the production of the cars over the years so we get that personal social side as well."

He said the event looks set to have raised more than £8,000 based on a comparison with last year s figures

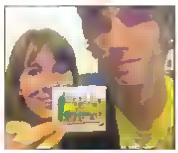
Panini cheapskates set for Premier League challenge

AN Oxford couple who brought you hand-drawn pictures of all 508 football players in the 2016 European Championships are embarking on their latest challenge.

Known as the Panini Cheap skates husband and wife Alex and Sian Pratchett, of Iffley Road, drew all 508 Euro 2016 Panini stickers in just 30 days raising £3,701 for charity in the process



• Alex and Sian Pratchett with one of their World Cup stickers

The couple managed to fill a European Championships sticker album with their own drawings achieving their feat with 13 minutes to spare.

And now, with the new Premier League season kicking off last week with aplomb, their latest challenge will see them draw every player from all 20 Premier League teams.

They announced their plans on Twitter on Friday, saying "The #EPL kicks off tomorrow Join us as we attempt to (badly) draw every single 2016 17 Premier League player .."

On the day of the big kick-off they tweeted. "Today s the day! Pencils are sharp we've got a nice new eraser 500+ #EFL players to draw Wish us luck.. "

During Euro 2016, the couple posted their drawings on social networking sites Twitter and Instagram, depicting all the players

One of the more memorable drawings included the moment a moth landed on Portugal star Cristiano Rooaldo s face as he lay injured on the pitch in the final against France.

He had to be substituted but Portugal still went on to win 1-0 in extra time.

The company which specialises in repairing windows which are steamed up, broken or damaged by replacing the panes – not the frames has received the coveted Which Trusted Trader status after going through a rigorous accreditation process entirely focussed on customer service.

Group Managing Director Marcus McGee believes that Which? have endorsed Cloudy2Clear a long standing company policy of delivering the highest standards possible at all times. Our service is simple. If your double glazing has misted up we can replace the glass or a fraction of the cost of a new window in any type of frame and with a new 25 year guarantee. But it's not just about saving people money, although that obviously helps. Whilst a number of tradespeople perhaps don't focus on customer care as much as they should do we make sure we turn up when we say we will, do the job the customer requires and leave their house as clean as a whistle.

Locally Cloudy2Clear operate like Oxfordshire area from their local depots and manager James Miller agrees that that approach is a major factor in his success.

The truth is that it's not just the personnel installation that I get from doing a good job but also it makes good business sense. I get a huge amount of business from friends and family of people I've done work for which just goes to show how much a little bit of effort is appreciated as both my customers and, also surely a body as nationally important as Which? now recognise.

So, if your windows are sweated up, broken or damaged give James a call for a free quote on 0800 61 21 118 and he'll be happy to help!

Illustrator Karis selected as winner of art contest

By Dominic Thomas

AN Oxford illustrator has been named the winner of an Oxfordshire-wide art competition.

Karis Harrington, 33, who lives on a houseboat, won the GreenART competition run by Stagecoach in Oxfordshire and will see her artwork displayed on buses around the county including the company's new green-engine Euro 6 fleet.

Her piece 'Shake the Tree' was inspired by the environmental festival Low Carbon Oxford Week in June and was named as the winner on Friday.

Six entries made a shortlist, which was put to a public vote via the bus company's Facebook page with Miss Harrington's picture receiving over 600 likes.

Miss Harrington, who recently returned from a year in New Zealand, said: "When I initially saw the brief it conjured up a lot of things I'd been thinking about since coming back to Oxford. Obviously Oxford is a massive green hub and there's a lot of community and people helping each other out and the idea of the tree was to get all the ideas into one place and being connected."

She said she developed more of an interest in living sustainably since deciding to go it alone as a freelance illustrator. "I realised how tough it was, which is when you have to become extremely frugal. I've never had a car or driven so whenever I've had to go anywhere I've completely relied on public transport.

"When I've been told I need to drive to get a job, I've cycled miles to places just to prove the point so it seemed relevant to enter the competition."

Martin Sutton, managing director at Stagecoach in Oxfordshire said: "I couldn't be more delighted to see Karis' artwork inside our new Euro 6 engine buses.

"I hope our passengers will see the detail captured in 'Shake the Tree' and feel inspired to make one small change to protect our city."

Jennifer Carr, who headed Oxford's Low Carbon Week for the city council, said: "She also seems like a shining example of somebody that's living a sustainable lifestyle as well."

Shaved to aid charity

STAFF at Helen & Douglas House in Oxford have had their heads shaved to raise funds for a colleague set to climb Mount Kilimanjaro.

The nurses and care team members at the Magdalen Road hospice gave up their hair to support the fundraising efforts of Jane Channon, who is climbing Kilimanjaro in September for the charity.

Douglas House nurse Jamie Richards from Wallingford, inspired the event and persuaded six colleagues to join her in having a drastic haircut.

They also donated hair to Hereford charity The Little Princess Trust, who makes wigs for sick children who have lost their own hair.

Their heads were shaved by Idlewild hairdressers in Woodstock Road, Oxford, on August 9, raising a total of £400.

As well as Ms Richards the other staff involved were Imogen Nomura and Laura Klepping, care team members Sarah Knowles, Monika Soltesz and chef Tenzin Namgyal.

Dementia boost

OXFORD: People in Oxford are being given the opportunity by the Alzheimer's Society to make a difference to the lives of local people with dementia by becoming Dementia Friends Champions.

Dementia Friends Champions are volunteers who help tackle the stigma and lack of understanding of dementia.

After attending a forthcoming Oxford induction day the volunteers will deliver Dementia Friends sessions across the local area in the coming months.

The day-long session on September 5 at Oxford Ice Rink, Oxpens Road, from 10am to 4pm, is part of Alzheimer's Society Dementia Friends programme.

Manor boost

W OXON: Kelmscott Manor near Faringdon is to receive a £4.7 million grant from the Heritage Lottery Fund for repairs to the grade I listed building.

The money will be used to upgrade the visitor facilities of the manor dating back to 1570, which was the Cotswold retreat of poet William Morris.

Former Prime Minister and Witney MP David Cameron said: "It is so important that we do everything we can to preserve these historical buildings."

MPs call for safety boost in wake of A34 tragedy

By George Welch

A CALL for safety improvements has been made by MPs after four people died in an eight-vehicle pile-up on the A34 last week.

The victims, from Bedfordshire have not been officially named by police but have been reported by various local media outlets as being 45-year-old Tracy Houghton, her two sons Ethan 13 and Josh 11 and her partner's 11-year-old daughter Amy Goldsmith.

Twelve others were injured in the collision, which involved four cars and four lorries on the northbound carriageway near East Ilsley at 5.10pm on Wednesday.

A 30-year-old man from Andover was arrested on suspicion of causing death by dangerous driving, and has been bailed until October 5.

Oxford West and Abingdon MP Nicola Blackwood has lobbied for improvements to the A34 for years and has been keeping up the pressure on both the Department for Transport and the Local Enterprise Partnership to ensure improvements on the A34 go ahead.

In recent months she has met Roads Minister Andrew Jones to discuss a recent spate of accidents and push for a suitable timetable for improvements.

Following the crash, MP for Newbury Richard Benyon has also written to Mr Jones demanding that action is taken.

Last month, a petition was set up to reduce the speed limit on the A34 from 70mph to 50mph after 28-year old Gavin Roberts died on June 15 from head injuries four days after a crash on the same stretch of road.

The petition saw a surge in supporters following last week's collision with more than 1,850 people now having signed it.

A second petition has also been set up calling for a 50mph limit between Chieveley and West Ilsley, which has about 600 signatures.

A statement from Highways England said: "Our thoughts go out to all those affected by the recent tragic incident.

"Safety is our top priority and we consider any advice given by the police or other statutory bodies to improve safety."

Firms named and shamed

A HAIRDRESSER in Witney has been forced to pay more than £3,000 to one of its workers after being named and shamed by the Government.

Woods Hair Ltd, which owns Chapters Hair Design in Witney, was one of six Oxfordshire business owners listed by the Government for paying below the legal minimum wage.

The hairdressers topped the Oxfordshire list, owing £3,676.87 to one of their staff, who has now been paid. In total, the six businesses will have to repay more than £11,500.

The list published by the Department for Business, Energy and Industrial Strategy named almost 200 employers across the UK who had failed to pay staff the minimum wage.

In response, Samantha Curtis, director at Chapters said: "It feels like it's really unfair that we have been listed.

"That particular person was inherited by us when we took over the company. It wasn't until after they left they came back and claimed that money. Their date of birth was different to what they told us and we thought we were paying them the correct amount."

The list of firms:

- Woods Hair Ltd, trading as Chapters Hair Design, Witney, owed £3,676.87 to one worker
- Mr Nicholas and Mrs Christina Winston-Partridge, trading as Wholesale Autoparts Kidlington, owed £2,691.73 to one worker
- The Buck Project Ltd, Chalgrove owed £1,816.15 to one worker
- Mr Ronald Archibald Mutton and Mrs Sandra Anne Mutton, trading as A1 Plumbing & Heating, Oxford, owed £1,834.13 to one worker
- The Dinner Bell Ltd, trading as The Chequers, Chipping Norton, owed £1,180.68 to one worker
- Mrs R Goff and Mrs E Butt, trading as Cotswold Equine Training, Burford, owed £288.72 to one worker

Arrival of rare cubs celebrated

COTSWOLD Wildlife Park has been celebrating the birth of the first lion cub triplets in its 46 year history

The park's pair of rare Asiatic lions Rana and Kanha, made history with their first litter

Born on May 25 at the park near Burford, the all-female litter of Kah, Sita and Sonika was successfully introduced to their father last week.

Park curator Jamie Craig said: "We have not bred lions for many years at Cotswold Wildlife Park so it is an exciting time for the mammal keepers

By George Welch

"Our young pair are proving to be exemplary parents and although there was some trepidation when we reintroduced the lioness and her cubs to the male, all went without a hitch and they can now be seen playing happy families in their enclosure."

The parents who are both five years old, moved to the park as part of the European Breeding Programme (EEP) and its keepers hoped that they would one day produce a litter of their own. Father Rana arrived at the park on Valentine's Day in 2013 from a zoological collection in France, and mother Kanha joined him one year later from Parken Zoo in Sweden.

The two formed an instant bond and, following a gestation period of four months Kanha gave birth to the three cubs. Lionesses rear their babies in seclusion and often reject them if they are disturbed so the keepers watched the births remotely on CCTV monitors.

For almost two months the triplets lived solely with their mother in the birthing pen.

Dad Rana remained in the neighbouring enclosure but was often seen by the keepers taking a great interest in his new family And last week, the cubs were successfully introduced to him in the main outdoor lion enclosure.

The park says Kanha and Rana are proving to be exceptional first-time parents and the new-borns are healthy and developing into confident young cubs

Asiatic lions are one of the world's rarest big cat species and wild population numbers have declined drastically over the last century almost to the point of extinction.

Once found throughout much of South West Asia, they are now only found in one isolated area – India's Gir Forest.

They are classified as endangered by the International Union for Conservation of Nature (IUCN)

Self-build home plots go on sale

• Graven Hill (photo by Martin Honey)

By Samantha McGregor

THE first plots at what will be the UK's biggest self-build development in Bicester go on sale next week.

Cherwell District Council bought the former Ministry of Defence site at Graven Hill in 2014 and has since set up Graven Hill Village Development Company (GHVDC) to handle the site's development.

The 187-hectare site has planning approval for up to 1,900 self-build homes, a primary school, employment space, a pub and shops.

The scheme will include kit homes, group-build schemes and individually-designed properties.

Ten plots and prices will be made available on August 22.

People who live or work in Cherwell have been given a six-week priority period to talk to the sales team ahead of the plots becoming open nationally on August 22. So far, 125 people have expressed an interest.

Cllr Dan Sames, a GHVDC board director with responsibility for sales and marketing, said: "The first residents will be instrumental in shaping a new community for Bicester and we hope that those living and working in Cherwell will take advantage of the opportunities to be part of this exciting project."

The first plots will be for detached homes and are close to the location of the village centre. Buyers will purchase a 'Golden Brick' which includes the plot, the foundations built for them and a 10-year structural warranty for their home.

Philip Singleton, GHVDC's managing director, said: "The response so far from local people is very pleasing, which I believe reflects a recognition of the potential at Graven Hill.

"Because we are offering new and simpler ways to build your own home and we offer plenty of support, self-build at Graven Hill is an attractive and realistic option for many more people.

"There is still time for local people to get ahead of the queue for the first 10 plots."

The site will be vacated by Bicester Defence Storage and Distribution Centre in stages so the council can start to build the infrastructure and the first homes.

Graven Hill is set to star in a six part TV show 'My Grand Design', with presenter Kevin McCloud.

For more information, call 01295 753708 or view gravenhill.co.uk.

Urged to take part

NORTH OXON Residents and employers are being encouraged to take part in Cycle to Work Day.

Cherwell District Council has pledged its support to the national event, which takes place on September 14, and is offering incentives to those who take part.

Residents who post their cycle commuting photos or stories on the #cycletoworkday hashtag can enter the council's prize draw to win free leisure centre passes.

Raised in memory

BICESTER A sum of £65,690 has so far been raised in memory of a Bicester cyclist who died after suffering a heart attack during a 100-mile cycle challenge through Surrey and London.

Robin Chard, 48, had set a target of £400 when he signed up to ride in aid of Cancer Research UK. View https://www.justgiving.com/fundraising/Robin-Chard

Have say on plan

THAME. Residents are being urged to make their views known on South Oxfordshire District Council's Local Plan 2032.

Among the proposals for Thame are 600 homes, a supermarket, 2.5 hectares of employment land and a reservoir plus a new settlement in Haddenham.

More than 300 people attended a public meeting last week at St Mary's Church. Comments should be sent to SODC and Aylesbury Vale District.

• Plans for Graven Hill

Bowled over by success

MORE than 500 people helped make the third Thame Cricket Club open day a "great success".

The event, organised by the club on August 7, was part of a nationwide initiative to promote cricket to local communities.

Held at the Church Meadow site, five teams competed in a centre-piece six-a-side tournament, which was won by Thame Town's under-16 team.

The tournament also "reinvigorated" a number of former players, leading them to sign up again.

This year Chinnor Rugby Club's Rugby Tots also came along to the event and held an open session for the two- to five-year-olds.

Matt Swain, the cricket club's vice-chairman, said the warm weather encouraged people to join the fun at Church Meadow.

He said: "The only thing that didn't take off for us on the day was the hot air balloon ride, provided by J Bennett & Son, the insurance brokers. Unfortunately, the maximum wind speed for a hot air balloon take-off is 10pmh and on the day the wind speed was close to 28mph!

"Our thanks go out to everyone that came along on Sunday, all the volunteers that helped to organise the event.

"All proceeds that were raised on the day will go towards building our new clubhouse and for new equipment for our junior section."

Karate group set to play role in Paralympics flame event

By Dominic Thomas

AN Oxford charity has been chosen to take part in the Paralympic Games flame-lighting ceremony

The Disability Karate Federation, founded by Ray Sweeney of Marston, is a charity that teaches martial arts to disabled and disadvantaged people.

Mr Sweeney along with athletes from the federation, will attend the heritage flame festival at Vale Park, near Stoke Mandeville, the home of the Paralympics, ahead of this year's Games

Athletes with a range of disabilities will be performing an exhibition at the festival before being passed the Paralympic torch ahead of it making its way to Rio on September 6.

Mr Sweeney said, 'Karate is not a Paralympic sport yet so we will be there to promote it as always, and this is a major opportunity for us to do so

"We're doing a demonstration event where there will be three wheelchair users working with some non-disabled people and demonstrating some attacks and defences from a wheelchair"

As well as running both disabled-only and mixed ability sessions at schools and leisure centres the federation also works around the country to help train coaches and write adapted coaching syllabuses for people with disabilities. He said "For most people in sport in general there is a bit of a fear so being able to write courses has been a major factor in being able to offer a development pathway for coaches to teach people with disabilities."

The federation is working with reigning karate world champion Dirk Van Der Merwe from South Africa, who uses a wheelchair, to develop specially adapted coaching programmes

Mr Van Der Merwe said of the federation. "They are an incredible organisation. They believe in inclusion, and that's the best thing, everybody is welcome and has an opportunity to take part.

"It's every person's dream to be part of something so massive as the Paralympic Games, and so we will get to fulfil that dream."

Ray Sweeney and Dirk Van Der Merwe

Village housing plans approved despite fears

PLANS for 78 homes in Chinnor have been approved by the South Oxfordshire District Council despite strong opposition from residents

The proposals attracted 149 objections from residents over impact on infrastructure and fears over the village becoming a dormitory town for London.

Planning committee members voted five to three in favour of approval The site of the application by A2 Dominion Development is north of Mill Lane and included 40 per cent affordable housing.

The committee said it had an obligation to grant approval due to the council having lost its five-year land supply meaning the criteria for granting permission had changed.

Speaking of the cumulative effect of developments in Chinnor, Cllr Paul Harrison said. "To increase a village by 20 per cent is massive The only reason this is even considered is because of the five year land supply"

Vicar is spared prison for 'wicked' indecent assault

By George Welch

A RETIRED vicar from Charlbury who indecently assaulted a 14 year-old girl while his wife was pregnant has been spared a prison sentence.

Grandfather Grahame Humphries 71 of Lees Heights was given an eight-month jail term suspended for two years after admitting indecent assault on the teenager.

The assault took place 45 years ago. Kingston Crown Court was told on Wednesday last week. Judge Paul Dodgson heard how the girl's family had been spending time with Humphries while his pregnant wife was away.

Humphries admitted kissing the girl and touching her breasts over her clothes on a number of occasions between September 1971 and September 1972.

In a similar incident, Humphries entered the girl's bedroom when she was at home alone and insisted she took her clothes off, prosecutor Max Hardy said. The victim refused and later told her mother what had been happening.

Mr Hardy said the case came to court after the victim decided to go to police following extensive publicity around the Jimmy Savile scandal.

Humphries, who worked in parishes across England, most recently in Blockley in the Cotswolds before retiring in 2012, was ordered to pay £500 in costs, given a 24-month supervision order and told to sign the sex offenders' register for the next five years.

Judge Dodgson told the pensioner that he had blighted the victim's life while working in another parish.

He said "Forty five years ago when you were a young curate aged 27 you did something very wicked. You took advantage of your position of trust."

Charlene Sumnall, in mitigation for Humphries, said the victim had "found the strength of character to make the allegation" after seeing other people being taken seriously in relation to the Savile investigation.

The case comes as Thames Valley Police confirmed that reports of sex abuse across the Thames Valley have more than doubled in the last five years.

Hotel's appeal for memories

AS a historic five-star hotel in Oxford prepares to celebrate its 150th birthday later this year, its owners are calling on Oxfordshire residents to check their cupboards for any memorabilia.

The Macdonald Randolph Hotel in Beaumont Street is appealing for any relevant mementos after an anonymous local resident gave staff an historic artefact from the start of the 20th century.

The memorabilia left at the hotel was a menu, in French, from a 1901 dinner of the Metropolitan Railway Carriage and Wagon Company a rail manufacturer which closed in 2005.

General manager Michael Grange believes there is likely to be a number of other memorabilia in the region and is keen to see what can be found in order to create a memory wall within the hotel to celebrate the 151-room hotel's birthday.

He said. "Receiving this menu was a wonderful surprise and a reminder that the Randolph has played a huge part in the lives of people in and around Oxfordshire over its many years.

"We have been trying to investigate the history of the hotel and this is a wonderful additional to our collection.

"We hope that there might be other pieces of history in the area and would encourage people to come to the hotel and share their memories with us."

The hotel, which was named after the Rev Dr Francis Randolph an 18th century cleric, was built in 1864 by William Wilkinson to help boost the city's accommodation for the members of high society.

Pupils lend hand to help in Africa

By Samantha McGregor

PUPILS from an Oxfordshire school have spent the summer holidays supporting a community thousands of miles away

The 18 sixth formers from Kingham Hill School near Chipping Norton, spent a fortnight volunteering for the Life Support charity in Zambia.

They lived and worked at Eden Farm, a children's village, which provides a safe home for orphaned and vulnerable children. During their stay, they painted and decorated a new chapel, taught at the school ran youth church sessions and played games and sports with the children.

During one visit to Kayisha, the pupils joined singing, dancing and talked with the Nurture Ladies a project funded by the Life Support project which empowers vulnerable and widowed women with enterprise and craft skills to help them earn money For the visitors it was a chance to develop communication and leadership skills

Athena Harper Latimer Girls day housepatent and trip leader, said. "It has been a joy to see the team immersing themselves in the culture and community of living life on Eden Farm. Every day saw a new challenge from running the sports days, dodging spiders, epic bus journeys, cooking on coals and making the most of the sanctuary time– the team gave it their all

"Lifelong memories and experiences have been made and I am very proud of all of them and what they achieved for Life Support and Eden Farm."

Before the group left for Africa, they raised more than £4 000 for the community from a string of events

Ms Harper added. "Being able to see how far every penny goes and taking pupils to see how their fundraising has impacted a community is an amazing privilege

"There is now a chapel two children s homes and two more on the way and the farm is continuing to expand and develop It's a really exciting time to be involved."

The school has been visiting the farm since 2011 and has so far raised more than £14,000 to support the community

• Kingham Hill School pupils gave up part of their summer holidays to help orphaned children in Africa

Decision upheld

N OXON A planning inspector has backed a council's decision to refuse permission for three homes to be built next to Ardley Village Hall

Cherwell District Council refused planning permission in March on the grounds the proposed properties were out of keeping with the area

Doggy paddle

C NORTON: Swimmers will be joined by their dogs in the last sess on of Chipping Norton lido.

Following last year's popular event to mark the end of lido season, dogs can join their owners for a dip from 7pm on Sunday September 11

Dogs cost £7 50 and owners and spectators are free People must book in advance

Afterwards there will be barbecue and dog biscuits

Recycle incentive

OXFORD. The call is out for charities and community groups to get involved in Oxford City Council's Blue Bin Recycling League competition – and be in with a chance of a monthly £400 cash prize

The council has split Oxford into eight areas based on bin days and every month the area that improves its recycling rate the most will top the league and win

And the winning area s residents can then vote for a local charity or community group to receive a £400 cash boost

Sports village named

A NAME has been chosen for a new sports village in Bicester – with residents voting to keep a little bit of the site s history

The development at Kingsmere will be called Whitelands Farm Sports Ground.

Residents were asked to email or post their favourite on social media, with 49 voting for Whitelands Farm, the site s former use, and 18 for Queen Elizabeth II Sports Ground, to mark the monarch s 90th birthday

Cllr Richard Mould, chairman of Bicester Town Council's policy committee, said. "The shortlisting of names had significance for the past and the present and will now be used to recognise the site in the future

"From now on, Whitelands Farm Sports Ground will be the official title of the new facilities which we hope will prove as popular as the name itself"

The cycling/jogging track and outdoor fitness equipment are already in use and the pitches are due to be put into use in the 2017/18 season.

Work will start in September on the building of a two-storey pavilion which will house sports club facilities on the ground floor including changing rooms, lockers, a treatment room and showers

Upstairs there will be a function room with a kitchen and bar with space to accommodate up to 150 seated guests. Car parking will also he provided and the facilty is due to he opened in May 2017

A membership to Bicester Leisure was up for grabs to all those who voted and the winner was Carlos Otalora

Competition

WIN over £200 of goodies with Fopp!

THURSDAY 28th July will see the opening of a new Fopp store in Oxford, the store being located at 96-97 Gloucester Green, Oxford.

As a vibrant music and student city, Oxford is the perfect match for Fopp. Eight years after closing, Fopp is returning to Oxford to provide the very best in music, film and books at low prices. Oxford shoppers will find a wide range of vinyl, CDs, Blu-ray, DVDs, books and turntables as well as an extensive collection of music and film related T-shirts and merchandise.

Fopp began as a one-man stall in Glasgow, Scotland in 1981, selling affordable merchandise. Throughout the years Fopp has evolved and now with the addition of Fopp Oxford, it boasts nine stores throughout the UK and is considered the second largest specialist music retailer in terms of store numbers.

Oxford Fopp store manager James Eveleigh confirmed there would be live music performances in the new store, which is sure to draw mass appeal from the residents of Oxford. The first of which will be from English based quartet Moose Blood who will be performing songs from their new album on Monday 8th August from 12.30pm.

James added "We would like to thank our many loyal customers in Oxford for their continued enthusiasm and support for the re-opening of their store. We look forward to once again providing the people of Oxford with the very best in film and music and look forward to welcoming Oxford entertainment shoppers to the brand new Fopp store this month."

As part of the opening celebration Fopp are supplying one lucky Oxfordshire Guardian reader with a pack of goodies worth over £200 that is a mixture of: classic albums on vinyl, classic British/American cinema, classic world cinema, music books and music posters.

To be in with a chance of winning all you have to do is answer this simple question.

Q: Where in Oxford is the new Fopp store located?

WIN tickets to Towersey Festival

WITH over 50 years under it's belt, Towersey Festival has developed the knack of making a lot of people very happy.

Billy Bragg, The Wonder Stuff, Kate Rusby and Midge Ure are among the headline acts lined-up for the 52nd Towersey Festival (26-29 August 2016, Thame, Oxfordshire).

They're joined by the Ukulele Orchestra of Great Britain, Tom Robinson Band, Edward II, 9Bach, The Young Uns, Nizlopi and Nell Bryden, plus enduring Towersey favourites Roy Bailey, Rusty Shackle and Nancy Kerr and James Fagan. A whole bunch of other artists will be there over the four days and to see the full listing visit www.towerseyfestival.com.

Well that's the grown-ups taken care of, but Towersey has a new focus on the younger members of the audience. Under the banner All About Children, the expanded programme promises a range of events, activities and workshops designed specifically to keep 5-11 year olds engaged and amused throughout the four day summer fest.

There's outdoor skills and learning, from den building to an exploration of wildlife habitat, as part of Green School, while a special family concert led by Johnny And The Raindrops promises raucous sing-a-longs and lots of dancing.

Closing date: Monday August 22

For those with an interest in performing, singer Marion Fleetwood, from acclaimed folk/ rock act TradArrr, will lead The Children's Festival Choir through their paces before an appearance alongside the group on The Big Club stage and the Towzer' Bandshow their musical chops at the Family Grand Ceilidh – which this year takes place in the larger Festival Dance House. Other music-making workshops include ukulele lessons and a session with The Conservatoire Folk Ensemble, who close the festival on Monday (29 Aug).

"Our aim is for All About Children to be an amazing four days of entertainment, activity and learning, and a brilliant place to spend the last few days of the summer holiday – a real 'Festival Holiday Club' experience."

We have a pair of adult weekend tickets including camping and to be in with a chance of winning them all you have to do is answer this simple question.

"We felt that Dad needed a little more support, that's why we chose Richmond Retirement Villages"

Liz, daughter of a Richmond Villages' resident

Are you in the situation where you know your elderly parent isn't coping at home?

Then a Village Suite at Richmond Witney, who have a new retirement village opening soon in Oxfordshire, could be the solution.

Here residents purchase their own apartments and enjoy a level of support which includes all meals, cleaning, laundry and household chores with the reassurance of personal care available if required.

For more information, please call

RICHMOND WITNEY

Part of Bupa

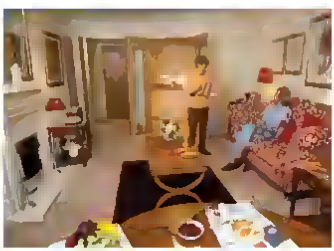
Is a care home really the best option for Mum?

So what do you do when you know your elderly parent isn't coping at home? You know they need looking after and a little extra support, but is a care home really necessary and is it the best and only option?

"It's a problem facing many people" says David Westerby Village Manager at the soon to open Richmond Witney Retirement Village. "Every day family members tell me how fiercely independent their parents are, but the reality is often very different with many ageing parents reliant on a great deal of support from a combination of family friends neighbours and public services. The stresses on families can be enormous"

Of course families and friends are there to help as much as they can and generally do their utmost, but often they're not local and have many other important responsibilities and demands on their time. "It's a real conundrum" says David, "and often people are still isolated at home with no real quality of life despite the sterling efforts of their family and friends to sustain them"

So what is the alternative? In the past the only obvious solution has been residential care but this might seem like an unnecessarily draconian step to take when, with a little extra care and support, an elderly parent can continue to enjoy a more independent lifestyle. The answer could be a Village Suite at award-winning retirement village operator Richmond Villages, who are part of Bupa. People purchase their own apartment and enjoy a level of support which includes all meals, cleaning, laundry and household chores, with personal care on hand 24/7 if required.



"Most people have at least one meal a day with friends in the restaurant or take the option of having meals brought to their apartment." continues David, "Dining with friends is a regular social occasion for most people, but the social aspect is enhanced further by our activities and events team who facilitate everything from bridge clubs to cultural festivals, all designed around the interests and wants of the people living at the Village. We also have our own fleet of vehicles and drivers meaning shopping and other routine journeys, as well as recreational outings no longer requires ordering a taxi or relying on family or friends if you don't drive anymore."

Graham Wood, whose mother has been living in a Village Suite at a Richmond Village for five years, said "Mum's previous home had just become too much work for her She wasn't coping well and it was all getting her down. Now she has her own beautiful apartment, a great social life and excellent facilities all on her doorstep. Not only has it been the perfect move for Mum, but knowing that support and help from Richmond Villages is there 24 hours a day is very reassuring for me and my family"

To find out more about the new Richmond Village at Witney, Oxfordshire, or any of the other Richmond Villages please call 01993 768492 or visit www.richmond-villages.com/assisted-living

Puzzles

Sudoku

The objective is to fill a 9×9 grid with digits so that each column, each row, and each of the nine 3×3 sub-grids that compose the grid (also called "boxes", "blocks", "regions", or "sub-squares") contains all of the digits from 1 to 9. The puzzle setter provides a partially completed grid, which for a well-posed puzzle has a unique solution.

Five-bedroom cottage with charming feel

• From front page

The current owners have sensitively restored the property with great care taken to use authentic materials There are polished oak floorboards mullioned windows exposed timbers and open fires creating a cosy and relaxing atmosphere.

From the Oak front door flagstone steps lead to the lobby with curved lime plastered walls and into the double aspect kitchen/breakfast room with exposed beams.

There is a cellar with limited head height, accessed by wooden steps, with a brick floor and an automatic pump to ensure it stays dry

The dining room has the old front door to the Blacksmith's house and the family room is of good size.

The charming sitting room has a polished brick floor Inglenook fireplace exposed beams and window to front

Upstairs there are four/five bedrooms one being used as a dressing room all with exposed beams and timbers and some with fireplaces

There are two well-appointed bathrooms one with a roll-top bath and one en suite to the master bedroom.

From the kitchen/breakfast room a door leads to the Wheelwright's workshop and barn This could make a dramatic family room or medieval-style kitchen/dining room subject to the usual consents

Charles Cottage is thought to be over 500 years old It was originally a hall house a simple one room building with a single hearth in the middle of the floor for cooking and warmth

King Charles I was rumoured to have stayed the night in the Blacksmith's house when he had his horse shod there on the way to Wantage in 1644

What proportion of Oxford properties have three or more bedrooms?

Bill Cooper, author of The Oxford Property Blog

An orthodox way of classifying property in the UK is to look at the number of bedrooms rather than its size in square metres

It seems that both homeowners and tenants are happy to pay for more space And typically the more bedrooms a house or apartment has the bigger it is likely to be because typically properties with more bedrooms tend to have larger or more reception (living) rooms

In today's Oxford property market, the Oxford homeowners and Oxford landlords I talk to are always asking me which attributes are likely to make their property comparatively more attractive and which ones may detract from the price

Over time buyers and tenants wants and needs have changed In Oxford location is still the number one factor effecting property value, and in the best neighbourhoods or those with proximity to a great school or major place of work, can command a price 40 to 50 per cent higher than a similar house in an average area.

However after location the next characteristic that has the most significant influence on the desirability, and thus price, of property is the number of bedrooms and the type (ie detached/semi/terraced/flat)

In previous articles I have analysed the Oxford housing stock into bedrooms and type of property but never before now have I cross referenced type against bedrooms.

These figures for the Oxford City Council area make fascinating reading It shows 76.2 per cent of properties in the area have three or more bedrooms

I was genuinely surprised at the low numbers of one and two bed properties especially 2 bed semi detached houses as tenants like smaller one and two bed properties In Oxford You see it might interest the homeowners and landlords of Oxford that there has been a change in the numbers of properties on the market and the split in bedrooms over the last 12 months

For several years Oxford buy-to-let investors have been pretty much the only buyers at the lower end of the market

Some Oxford landlords believe their window of opportunity has started to close with the new tax regime for landlords whilst it already appears to be open ing wider for first time buyers

This is great news for first time buyers who can scrape together the sizable deposit needed

One final note for Oxford landlords all is not lost– you can still pick up bargains if you are prepared to buy a property in need of work, you just need to be increasingly savvy

One source of such information with articles like this is the Oxford Property Blog oxford propertyblog.co.uk.

Highgate show home launched in Bicester

You can now live in your own show home of Heyford Park in Bicester as Dorchester Living brings to market its beautiful Highgate show home.

Situated opposite the village green the Highgate is a thoughtfully designed four-bedroom detached house spread over three storeys If comes fully furnished with a landscape garden and all street parking and boasts undisturbed views over the village green to the front of the property

The ground floor offers owners a study and an open-plan family room dining area and kitchen, with bi-folding doors leading to the rear garden.

The unique design of this property means the living room is on the first floor along with two bedrooms and a bathroom

The second floor has a master bedroom with en-suite and fitted wardrobes along with a fourth bedroom which could be used as a guest room.

This property is priced at £540 000

Mr and Mrs Rose purchased a Highgate house type at Heyford Park in April. Mrs Rose said "We were drawn to Heyford Park because of the high specification of the homes

"We were attracted to its high ceilings and open plan living space especially the ground floor living areas and kitchen which opens out on to the garden — a great space for entertaining family and friends."

For further information about the Highgate show home contact the marketing suite on 01869 238238 or visit the website heyfordpark.co.uk

Cheaper mortgages 'great news for property market'

A number of factors – including cheaper mortgages a rise in first time buyers and more choice have combined to create a positive outlook for the property market.

The Bank of England's recent decision to lower the base rate to 0.25 per cent has encouraged eight of the UK's 10 largest mortgage lenders to lower their standard variable rates while figures from the Council of Mortgage Lenders show 69 200 loans were taken out by first-time buyers in June an increase of 26 per cent on May and eight per cent on June 2015

A rise in supply is also helping buyers with Rightmove reporting the average estate agents had 51 properties for sale on its books in July, up from 60 in June and 59 in May

Kevin Shaw national sales director at property specialist Leaders says there has been a notable uplift in the property market in recent weeks with many buyers and sellers enjoying a renewed sense of confidence following the result of the EU referendum.

He said "A reduction in mortgage rates and more loans for first-time buyers is great news that will help to get Britain moving

"It is clear that people are using the summer as an opportunity to make their next move

"With Rightmove figures showing a rise in available stock and our own statistics revealing an increase in the number of new properties brought to the market, buyers are benefiting from more choice

"While the precise impact of Brexit is still unknown it has not yet had an effect.

"After all people still need to take their next step find a home for their family or buy for the first time so we expect activity to remain strong."

The Wirebirds to fly high

By James Richings

A MIXTURE of original songs and cover versions will be heard when The Wirebirds perform at The Nag's Head in Abingdon on Friday August 26

Made up of Allan Stroud (guitar and vocals) Jay Myrdal (harmonica and vocals) Dave Smith (bass) and Darren Hopkins (drums and backing vocals) the foursome who hail from Stanford in the Vale, are on strangers to performing all over the county

Next Friday's gig will be the fifth time they have performed at the Abingdon Bridge pub with the band also due to perform there again in December

And despite not releasing any of their self-penned tracks so far bassist Dave Smith hopes the Abingdon crowd will appreciate their original tunes as well as their covers of tracks from a number of blues/rock musicians.

"The band is greatly influenced by the early blues of the rural south in America, as well as the British blues boom of the 1960s," Dave told the Guardian

"You'll hear echoes of Jimi Hendrix, Rory Gallagher and Stevie Ray Vaughan in Al's guitar playing while Jay draws inspiration from the likes of Little Walter and Sonny Boy Williamson

"We're all devotees of the blues in its many forms, but also listen to a wide range of other music."

"And, on the night you'll hear a blend of classic blues and a few original songs all played in the distinctive Wirebirds style

"Expect some emotionally charged guitar from Al, inspired blues harp from Jay, and a plenty of strong grooves driving the band along from Darren and Dave."

Three of the band members originate from other parts of the world guitarist Allan and drummer Darren are from the South Atlantic island of St Helena and harmonica player Jay is from Montana in the United States – while the fourth band mate Dave, who lives in Oxford, spent a large part of his life in Finland.

But despite their different backgrounds, the four friends have developed a huge bond between them which really shows when they perform.

So it is no surprise that the band is booked solid with gigs all over the south of country until the end of the year

"Our dream would be to tour with a group of blues greats as we would learn so much from them," Dave said.

"And I think it's absolutely vital that people should continue to watch live music

"I believe that the loss of local venues that give both bands and audiences a chance to experience the joys of real music played live would be a tragedy."

The free gig at the pub will start at 9.45pm.

Karaoke stars night

LIVE MUSIC A Stars in Their Minds free karaoke night will take place at the Magoo's Bar in Henley next Thursday August 25 from 10pm to 1am

It will see music fans arrive at the Hart Street venue to sing along to their favourite tunes from artists such as Frank Sinatra and Elvis Presley

Top comedian

COMEDY One of the UK's most successful comedians Michael McIntyre will be performing at Chipping Norton Theatre on Tuesday August 23 and Wednesday August 24

The 40 year-old who was also a judge on Britain's Got Talent in 2011 visits the Spring Street venue for a 'work in progress' tour

Tickets cost £21.50 and both gigs start at 7.45pm

Streak-ing in

LIVE MUSIC Rock n roll covers band Blue Streak will perform a free gig at Woodstock Social Club on Saturday August 20 starting at 9pm

The four piece group from Bicester will showcase some of the genre's most popular tunes from the 1950s and 1960s

Covers band aims to inspire others

TUNES from Adele to Iron Maiden will echo around The Bell pub in Bicester when covers band Free State Revolution pay a visit on Saturday August 20

By James Richings

Made up of Dan Banfield on rhythm guitar and vocals, Kris Willingham on lead guitar, bassist Andrew Pancheri and drummer Andreas Kremheller, the band is no stranger to performing in Oxfordshire and beyond, with the group regularly gigging in numerous counties.

And despite being a part-time band, with the lead singer admitting that the four of them have sensible jobs to pay for the bills, he hopes that he along with Kris, Andrew and Andreas will be able to put a smile of their audience's faces with their covers.

"To be honest with you, the audience giving you that positive reaction is the reason why we do it," Dan told the Guardian.

"We have all grown up loving music but when you are young, you have dreams of writing and performing in big venues.

"Unfortunately those dreams all slipped away as we all got older, settled down and had children.

"But performing in the venues we do, sometimes they are small, sometimes they are large, we always try and look out for people dancing, singing and just generally enjoying themselves which gives us all a real buzz when we perform."

After falling in love with music when he was a child, Dan revealed to the Guardian it was musicians and bands such as Jimi Hendrix, Thin Lizzy, The Kinks and The Who that first gave him that passion for music, after his parents would play their tunes on the radio on long car journeys.

Then Dan's wish to become a musician came true in 2012, when he was introduced to his current bandmates via an online advert guitarist Kris put out.

Since then, the four friends have become familiar faces in pubs, clubs and bars across Oxfordshire, Buckinghamshire, Bedfordshire, Hertfordshire and Northamptonshire.

And with their rock covers of popular songs attracting big audiences, Dan hopes he, along with his band-mates, can inspire a whole new generation of cover bands.

"In a world where stars and music is manufactured with no talent or meaning to go and see live bands – especially covers bands – is hugely important," Dan said.

"There was a time when music was written to send a message to the listener to empathise, sympathise and reach out to people.

"Nowadays it's all about money."

The free gig by the Leighton Buzzard-based band at the pub in Bicester's Sheep Street will start at 9.30pm.

Arts venue reveals new season line-up

THE Cornerstone Arts Centre in Didcot has revealed its new programme for the autumn and winter season.

From September, the Station Road venue will be playing host to plays, musicals, musicians and comedians, among others.

Kicking off the line-up will be the popular band Danny and the Champions of the World on Sunday, September 11. Fronted by Danny Wilson, the group will perform tracks from their six studio albums.

Two days later on Tuesday, September 13, the Station Road theatre will hold its monthly open mic night when local singers, musicians, poets, actors and comedians and show off their skills in front of a packed crowd.

Other open mic night are scheduled for October 11, November 8 and December 13.

Comedian Seann Walsh is due on Thursday, September 29.

The following month will see British-Iranian comic Omid Djalili perform on Wednesday, October 5, and Thursday, October 6, as part of his Schmuck for a Night UK tour. The same month will see 'The Power of Love – The Music of Celine Dion' visit the venue on Thursday, October 20.

By James Richings

Starring Eloise Jane Gray as the Canadian singer, she will perform many of the 48-year-old star's hits such as 'My Heart Will Go On' and 'The Power of Love'.

The Cornerstone will also be hosting a number of family fun events aimed at children, with one of them, 'Don't Dribble on the Dragon', arriving in Didcot on Sunday, October 23.

Based on the book written by Steven Lee, it tells the story of brothers Jack and Tom who have a huge falling out.

So it's up to a magical dragon to help the two siblings bury the hatchet.

The following month will see one of Cornerstone's largest events take place from Friday, November 25 to Sunday, November 27 with the staging of Didcot Food Festival.

For three days, numerous chefs and television personalities will come to Didcot to share off their sweet and savory treats.

For more information about all of these events, visit www.cornerstone-arts.org

Hunt down The Fox for fine food

"IF more of us valued food and cheer and song above hoarded gold, it would be a merrier world" – reading the familiar wise words of The Hobbit author JRR Tolkien on the menu of The Fox Inn at Boars Hill put me in good spirits

But what came next was even better – pan fried fillets of sea bass, crab with chorizo and spring onion risotto sauteed bak choy Thai coconut curry sauce, mango salsa, coriander and chilli.

I hadn't been hugely hungry as my plus-one drove us out of Oxford and past the exclusive gated mansions of Foxcombe Road to the classic English pub But the tide turned as I read the menu and list of specials – and that's always a good sign.

After a tumultuous year of changeovers at The Fox Inn, MLC Pubs Ltd has taken over with style and, if the food and wine is anything to go by, is here to stay

The small company now has five pubs since it launched in 2008 Its latest, which launched in March, is the one I trialled two Fridays ago

The elegant-come-country-chic décor sets the tone well and covered outdoor decking is a nice option for the hardy – or for those fleeting days of summer sun.

REVIEW ★★★★☆

By Katriona Ormiston

My plus-one was very impressed with the A3-sized wine list and we were both pleased to spot a favoured New Zealand Sauvignon Blanc from Spy Valley, a family firm whose vineyards we visited six months ago It was suitably named staff favourite.

But with our more adventurous hats on, we opted for an Italian white instead and didn't regret it – a Gavi Docg, Tuffola

Pan-seared scallops with roast butternut squash and all the trimmings got things off to a great start. Plus-one agreed.

And I don't think I need to say much more of my main described above, other than it was definitely the best meal I have had out from my memory of feasts this year What I thought was a brave combination on paper was pulled off beautifully

I had no food envy despite the look of plus-one's pan seared fillet of halibut, garlic-crushed new potatoes, cauliflower puree sauteed fennel, red pepper and mange tout with white wine chorizo and sundried tomato veloute

The Fox Inn has undergone an unmistakable upgrade since I last visited some years ago when plus-one was just someone on the other side of the table.

And it has obviously also come a long way from the establishment it was in 1985 when darts, pool, and dominoes were the order of the day alongside scampi and chips for £2

There are fewer games on offer now so the emphasis is on good company good wine, good food and good service.

The Fox has been a pub for more than 100 years but was also apparently a tea room a long time ago in which ladies would gather for tea and cake in the front rooms leaving gentlemen to their secret pints of beer in the back.

Cake is still an option, though and if you can manage it I wouldn't turn down dessert.

Hat's off to the chef.

THE SOUND OF MUSIC
One of the greatest musicals of all time returns to the stage in a magnificent new production to enchant the young and the young at heart. This wonderfully lavish new staging tells the true story of the world famous von Trapp singing family, from their romantic beginnings and search for happiness, to their thrilling escape to freedom at the start of WWII.
Lucy O'Byrne, fresh from her success on BBC One's The Voice, plays the role of Maria. She became the competition's runner up in 2015, impressing the nation and chart topper will Lam with her stunning vocal range. Award winning TV and stage leading man Andrew Lancel plays the dashing Captain von Trapp. Lancel, who is best known to TV audiences for his portrayal of villainous business man Frank Foster in Coronation Street and for the role of DI Neil Manson in The Bill, drew critical acclaim in the title role of the West End production Epstein – The Man Who Made the Beatles.

Volvo V40 T2 Momentum Nav Plus

Want to be happy? Drive a Volvo

THE summer holidays are finally here for most of us – and I am sure everyone is frantically buzzing around and packing all their bags so they can jet off to that beach in the Bahamas.

Or if that's not your kind of holiday, then maybe you are like me and are getting ready for a week of camping somewhere in Wales.

That's the thing about Wales – it is as full of wonderful things like the odd SAS soldier out for a quiet walk, or some rambling souls out for that brisk stroll in the morning sun.

Also, as it turns out, this year's summer holiday is just as important for me – because I finally get the chance to go away on holiday with one of my best friends who's over from Sweden.

So, if I may, I would like to introduce you to my friend the 'Volvo V40 T2 Momentum'

Power and Efficiency:

The V40 T2 I have on test is powered by a 1969cc petrol engine that has 122hp and 220Nm of torque at 3 500rpm.

By Anthony Yates

Fuel economy also comes in at about 51.4mpg (combined) and CO_2 emissions of 127g/km, along with a top speed of around 118mph.

On the road:

A joy I have said this before and I will say it again – driving around in a Volvo makes you feel happy. Yes, that's happy. The reason for this still boggles my mind, but all I do know is that when I'm behind the wheel of a Volvo I feel very happy indeed. On the road, the V40 also feels controlled and very well balanced into the corners and the ride feels firm but relaxing. And that's mainly down to Volvo doing a fantastic job of the V40's chassis.

Design & Technology

The V40 has some stunning looks, sharp lines and LED lighting which all add to the fresh appeal of the V40 – with many people already commenting on its looks as well as its styling.

The Volvo engineers have also put in a lot of effort to make the V40 more appealing to the younger buyer with its modern looks and technology including as standard a five-inch colour display screen, City Safety, LED headlights, two-zone climate control, speed limiter, hill start assist, digital radio, Bluetooth hands free system, 16-inch alloy wheels and 60/40 split-folding rear seats.

Safety:

Volvo has a long list of 'IntelliSafe' features on the V40 that are there to help prevent accidents and protect you in the event that one occurs. Plus additional features can be added such as adaptive cruise control, blind spot information, Lane Keeping aid and forward collision warning which all helps in keeping you safe on the road.

To sum up:

Just brilliant.

Price: From £20,255 (T2 Momentum) – not including fitted options.

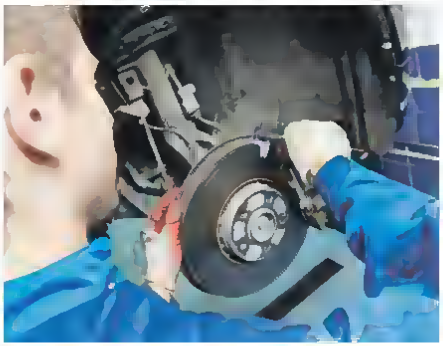
Do you know the difference between an mot and a service ?

Many customers assume that when an mot is carried out on there vehicle it will ensure that the vehicle is safe and ready to use on the road,well believe it or not this in some cases this is not correct,in fact a vehicle can pass the mot and not be fit for use on the public highway !!

The mot standards are very low and are purely there to assess the condition of the vehicle on the day,on many occasions it is not uncommon to pass a vehicle with tyres and brakes just over the test standards then a week or so later the vehicle owner needing to have the parts renewed.



When we carry out an mot test,we always explain to the customer the findings and the sensible vehicle owners tend to listen and have items replaced that are just on the pass limit.

We can not emphasie enough how important it is to have a service alongside an mot to ensure your vehicle is safe and fit for use on the public highway,service standards are far more robust and will highlight issues that an mot is simply not designed to do plus with most modern vehicles electrics on a service correctly done the garage will use a laptop or similar to interogate the complex electronics to pick up any hidden issues.

Many customers are on a budget and wrongly assume that by missing a service they save money,well that is a myth , think of it like this you use the car daily,you carry children pets,shopping,friends and you go to work,holidays,days out etc in your car and you expect all of this in total reliability and safety in a car you have spent £1000s of your hard earned cash on.Yet you are doing this without anything more than a mot test once a year in the mistaken belief the mot will ensure your safety

We see countless customers who arrive on the back of a breakdown wagon simply because simple service checks/ replacements have been missed and the customer have had there holiday,day out or trip to work ruined because they do not understand the mot scheme

Stones roll over City

CONFERENCE South side Oxford City continued their poor start to the season with a 3-0 home reverse against Wealdstone on Tuesday night.

Despite winning their first game of the season 2-1 against Welling, Saturday's 2-0 defeat at Hemel Hempstead and Tuesday's loss makes it three defeats in a row for Justin Merritt's side.

And on Tuesday, Oxford were undone by three second-half Wealdstone goals

After an even first half, in which both sides had good chances and both keepers made good saves, it was the visitors who were quicker out of the blocks after the break as Elliott Benyon put Danny Green in to open the scoring.

City came close to levelling on a couple of occasions but it was Omar Koroma for Wealdstone who was next on the scoreboard on 66 minutes after ex-City man Matt Whichelow had taken advantage of a hesitant defence

Benyon, with a hint of offside, notched a third five minutes later and substitute Tom Winters saw a snap-shot go close.

Stones striker Benyon then had the ball in the City net again on 82 minutes, but this one was disallowed.

By George Welch

Saturday's match against Hemel Hempstead saw Oxford just about shade their hosts in terms of possession, and in which they looked particularly dangerous from set-pieces

But the Grosvenor Vale side took the lead on 32 minutes when Godfrey Poku inavertantly converted into his own net.

City pressed for an equaliser after the break, again looking dangerous from set-pieces, but it was the Tudors who notched the second goal of the match when Jake Robinson netted from a tight angle after 72 minutes

Hemel held on for their first win of the campaign.

City, still without a goal from open play, slip into the early relegation zone and will hope for a better day on Saturday when Concord Rangers still pointless after four matches, are the visitors to Marsh Lane.

Both sides have had disappointing starts to the season results-wise and, later in the campaign, this clash he deemed a dreaded 'six-pointer

Heavy loss 'a shock to the system' for depleted Ardley

• Ade Talabi in action before his second half red card

NINE man Ardley United suffered a heavy 5-0 defeat at home to Flackwell Heath in the Hellenic League Premier Division on Tuesday evening.

Having lost 1-0 away to Highmoor-Ibis on Saturday the defeat at The Playing Fields on Tuesday made it back-to-back defeats for United.

Midfielder Carl Tappin saw red on nine minutes after he denied a clear goal scoring opportunity on the goal line with his hand.

And forward Ade Talabi received his marching orders with 20 minutes remaining after he collected his second yellow card of the evening.

A hatrick from Flackwell Heath frontman Dan Burnell sandwiched between a second minute goal from Dan Molley and a late Jermaine Roche strike condemned Ardley to a substantial loss in the warm north Oxfordshire evening sun.

After encouraging back-to-back wins to start the season, manager Paul Davis said the hammering was "a shock to the system and a bit of a reality check"

He added. "To play with 10 men for 80 minutes is a hard task anyway especially when you're two goals down.

"We simply were not good enough in the first half, and were then forced to play the last 20 minutes with nine men against a team that will finish high in this division, and it was just too much to ask tonight for my lads"

Ten man Didcot Town back to winning ways

TEN man Didcot Town produced a stunning display to beat Winchester 4-0 at Loop Meadow Stadium on Tuesday night

Despite playing with 10 men for over 75 minutes the Diddy recorded their first win of the season in convincing style

Didcot supporters' memory of their last home outing, a 5-1 opening day humiliation against Swindon Supermarine was quickly forgotten as Ryan Brooks set up Ben Whitehead to score within just 10 seconds of the match.

But, on 13 minutes, Andy Hallard was sent off after collecting two early yellow cards in quick succession.

Yet the sending off galvanised the hosts and 10 minutes before half time Brooks scored his first since returning to Didcot to double the lead.

Minutes later, the referee awarded Winchester a soft penalty as keeper Leigh Bedwell went to claim a loose ball in the box but was penalised.

Bedwell made up for his error with a great save to keep the score at 2-0

With half time looming, George Reid added a third to cap off a crazy first half at The Loop

The second half was a quieter affair but the best goal of the night came with 10 minutes remaining after a brilliant solo goal from substitute Jack Powell.

The midfielder passed three defenders before he rounded the keeper and finished into an empty net.

Didcot will look to build on last Tuesday's result when they travel to Ascot on Saturday in The Emirates FA Cup Preliminary Round.

Ten out of ten for Saints

By George Welch

OXFORD Saints blew away Swindon Storm 50-6 in the last match of the regular British American Football Association Division II season.

The win at Tilsley Park meant the Saints finished the 2016 season with a perfect 10-0 record, remaining undefeated as they enter the playoffs

Oxford were dominant throughout and were 44 0 up before the visitors registered any points in the fourth quarter

Running backs James Walter and Ryan Kingshott high scored for the league winners recording 24 and 14 points respectively

Slight relief came for Swindon when quarterback Brent Johnson Flippance completed a pass to receiver Raul Rosa who was open over the middle, running it in for a 72-yard score that took the Saints by surprise

Swindon kicker Luke McEnroe attempted the extra point but the ball hit the post.

The Saints who beat their opponents away 54 14 in June, raced ahead to a 29-0 half time lead, with 22 of those points coming in the second quarter

Walter got the scoring under way in the first quarter after he gained 17 yards from a Destin Maulding pass and charged across the goal line for the first touchdown of the day Sam Fielden put the ball through the uprights and added the extra point.

And it was Walter who recorded the Abingdon-based sides final points of the day before Swindon scored their consolation.

Kyle Swann passed the ball to Waller, who evaded multiple defenders and ran into the endzone for his fourth touchdown of the day from 53 yards out

Antonios Athanasiou attempted to cross the line for the two point score but was unable to get over

And the 10th win of the season was confirmed when cornerback Marlon Mason intercepted Swindon s quarterback to bring the game to a close

Oxfordshire end season with victory

OXFORDSHIRE County Cricket club ended their Western Division league season on a high with a win over Cheshire this week.

The home side won their second match of the season by an innings and two runs after four wickets from 17-year old Olly Clarke on day two helped them to victory on his minor county debut

After setting a lead of 329 –9 on the second day of play Cheshire could only manage a total of 165 all out in their second innings, following on from a poor first day display

Six wickets from Chad Keegan led the onslaught from Oxfordshire s bowlers in the first innings with Luke Ryan also claiming three, as Cheshire s David Hurst got their highest score with 61

Oxfordshire then built their day one lead with Richard Kaufman and Jonathan Cater wracking up hefty averages to leave Oxfordshire 193 – 4 up by the close of play

This was followed an day two by a half century from Keegan as Oxfordshire finished 329 – 9.

Cheshire offered some resistance opening the second innings with Richard Moore's 35 runs before he was dismissed by Clark.

Hurst could then only manage 25 and with Clarke claiming three more wickets for an exchange of 13 runs the visitors were left too far adrift of the total.

JASON Plato celebrated his 500th race in the British Touring Car Championships (BTCC) with a win at Knockhill Dunfermline on Sunday

Pole-sitter Plato celebrated his 500th BTCC race in style by taking a commanding lights-to-flag success in the opener, becoming the 11th different winner of this unpredictable season so far

The Silverline Subaru BMR Racing driver built a strong gap over the first half of the race before Team IHG Rewards Club's Jack Goff began reeling him in.

Plato s advantage was then completely eradicated by a safety car period, but he managed the remaining racing laps with consummate ease to claim a staggering 95th career victory

Goff and Colin Turkington completed the podium positions, finishing second and third respectively

Plato completed the weekend with impressive third placed finishes in the second and third races

He said "Before this weekend I wasn't getting caught up in any of the numbers.

"You cast your mind back to where it all started – struggling in single seaters with no money

"Five hundred races later and we re still winning.

"Whilst we all wanted to get that first win for Subaru, did it matter too much to me? It was just great to see the cars winning – the ball was just yet to roll my way"

The strong performance in Scotland moves Plato up four places from 11th place to seventh.

Satch rows to Rio gold in men's eight

KEEPING in control of his emotions perhaps isn't something Will Satch excels at but he admitted it was a good job his rowing was off the charts after taking meo s eight gold in Rio

The British crew – featuring the likes of double Olympic champion Andrew Triggs Hodge and Oxford Brookes Scott Durant– executed a perfect race in Saturday s final to lead throughout

Holding a massive lead of 2 45 seconds over Germany at halfway Satch and crew eventually crossed to win by a margin of 1.33 to cap a wonderful regatta for TeamGB with another gold.

And reflecting on the performance, Satch admits the camaraderie and competitiveness in the boat formed the backbone of the team's success in Rio.

He said. "It is just a real surreal moment it s been building up and building up for, well I guess the last four years but really the last couple of weeks

"I'm a bit of an emotional bloke anyway so it s quite hard to be able to hold me stable and just keep a lid on stuff and obviously with the conditions it can mess with your head."

He added. "The camaraderie in the boat is great

"You have guys that are double Olympic champions and guys who are almost newbies but we came together as one and that was what won it on the day"

Former Yellow puts his boyhood club to the sword

United surrender to Pirates

By George Welch

TEN-MAN Oxford United suffered their first defeat back in League One after they fell to a 2-1 defeat to at Bristol Rovers at the Memorial Stadium on Saturday

After right back Sam Long's dismissal in the second half, the U's succumbed to goals from Jermaine Easter and former United striker Matty Taylor

A first Oxford goal for Kane Hemmings, who started in place of the injured Wes Thomas, had equalised for Michael Appleton's men just before half time

But Taylor, who looked set to re-sign for his boyhood club this summer, proved the winner for the Pirates 20 minutes from time

Playing their first home league game back in League One, Rovers flew out of the blocks and could have scored two in the first two minutes

Simon Eastwood saved Mark McChrystal's header after 75 seconds and Rory Gaffney failed to tap home a simple-looking finish from the resulting corner before he dragged another decent chance wide on five minutes

And on 24 minutes the visitors were behind.

The entire ground were already on their feet and applauding 24 year-old fan Joe Allington, who passed away suddenly last week.

As the applause rang out, Easter drilled an unstoppable effort across Eastwood and into the far corner to make it 1-0 and give the young Rovers fan a perfect tribute.

United almost hit back immediately when a flowing move ended with Hemmings heading back at the far post and the flying Liam Sercombe nodded the bouncing ball just wide as Steve Mildenhall hesitated in the Bristol goal.

United looked increasingly dangerous and were on level terms two minutes before the break, with Hemmings converting into the bottom left corner of the net

The second half was evenly contested with chances for both sides.

But with a quarter of the game left, the Yellows' Long saw red after he picked up a second yellow card. Appleton had already protested that the Bicester-born right back's first yellow card was harsh

And just three minutes later Sercombe presented the ball straight to Taylor who thumped the match-winning finish home

With five minutes remaining Eastwood denied another ex-Oxford man, Cristian Montano, from making it 3-1.

Pepperell launches campaign to boost kids' golf participation

EDDIE Pepperell has helped launch a new campaign to increase young people's participation in the sport.

The Abingdon-born golfer helped promote the Golf Foundation, which has been named as the official charity of the British Masters which will take place at The Grove, in Hertfordshire, from October 13

The tournament, hosted this season by former world No 1 Luke Donald, will help raise awareness and funds for the foundation, which was set up in 1952, and make golf more accessible to young people of all abilities and from many different backgrounds

And European Tour member Pepperell, a strong supporter of junior golf development, was joined by 30 children from the Golf Foundation at The Grove on August 10 to launch the tournament's Official Charity campaign

Pepperell recently returned the sponsorship paid to him by his home club Frilford Heath, to allow 51 youngsters to become junior members which increased the club's junior section by two thirds

He said, "The Golf Foundation is a superb charity which takes golf to kids who might otherwise not have the opportunity to participate in the game.

"It was fantastic to have so many of the kids from the Golf Foundation at The Grove to launch the official charity, and have a go at some of the golf activities we had set up."

Tournament host Donald said, "We saw at the British Masters last year how much fun kids can have by getting involved with the game of golf.

"It was great that Eddie could be at The Grove today to help with the Official Charity launch and meet some of the kids."

Oxford blown away in storm

FOLLOWING back-to-back wins Oxford RL were brought back down to earth with a damaging 62-18 defeat to Newcastle Thunder at Tilsley Park on Saturday

Oxford's poor performance in the Kingstone Press League 1 Shield clash allowed Newcastle to record their biggest total of the season.

Thunder were out of the blocks in sharp time with their opening try early in the first half and had opened up a 22 point lead before the hosts grabbed an unconverted score through Harry Griffiths just before half time

The visitors ran in eleven tries over the course of the afternoon and two quick Newcastle tries at the start of the second 40 saw their lead grow to 32-4.

The hosts responded when Josh Nathaniel pounced on Scott Fleming's grubber to cross, before Nathaniel added another to reduce the deficit to 20 points

But Thunder rediscovered their clinical edge with four more tries to see off Oxford.

Confident finish to tough GP weekend

OXFORDSHIRE'S MotoGP rider Bradley Smith delivered a fully determined performance at the Austrian Grand Prix on Sunday to clinch ninth in front of more than 95,000 fans

The Monster Yamaha Tech3 Team rider, who started in 14th, leapt forward from the middle of the fifth row of the grid and after navigating his way through the frantic first lap, he crossed the finish line in 11th.

The British star found himself in 10th position at the half way point after he sustained a strong rhythm

And the 25-year-old continued to lap at an impressive pace right until the chequered flag, and was unlucky to just miss out on the top independent position by three-tenths of a second.

But the result was a positive end to a previously challenging weekend

Smith, who sits in 14th position on 42 points, said, "Over all, I have to be happy with the result and we really turned things around.

"I am also a little bit disappointed because the top satellite position was the aim especially after the pace that we had in warm up and I knew that we had a good chance

"We already knew it would be a challenging weekend but from where we were on Friday to where we are now it's clear to see that we've made a big step and I am very proud."

Next up for Smith is the Czech Republic Grand Prix this weekend.

Fleetwood away

FOOTBALL Oxford United travelled to Fleetwood town last night in their latest League One fixture

Chey Dunkley and Wes Thomas, who both missed out on Sunday's defeat to Bristol Rovers, were included in the travelling squad as the U's search for their first League One win of the season.

Dunkley picked up a hamstring strain in the opening day of the season against Chesterfield, while Thomas was forced off with a tight groin in last Tuesday's EFL Cup win at Birmingham City

Right back Sam Long was suspended and missed out, meaning that youngster Miles Welch-Hayes was in contention to make his full debut for the club

Transfer watch

FOOTBALL Oxford United have given up their efforts to sign Motherwell striker Marvin Johnson after the Scottish outfit rejected a bid from the U's.

Goalkeeper Max Crocombe has joined League Two side Carlisle United. The 22-year old penned a one-year contract

Head coach Michael Appleton looks set to stay away from the loan market, despite losing right backs Christian Ribeiro for a month and Sam Long for a game through suspension

New stand

ICE HOCKEY Darryl Morvan is the final Oxford City Stars legend to have a stand at Oxpens Road named after him after an online fans vote

A defensive stalwart, Morvan, who played 223 times for the Stars in the 1980s and the 1990s, beat nine other 1980s legends and managed to pull in over a quarter of the votes.

Stands have already been named after Scott Gough, Dan Prachar and Dave Carr, with the city end of the rink being named the Elliott End after Darren Elliott and his dad Norman

Navy rugby

RUGBY 7S Royal Navy Sharks were crowned winners of the Abingdon 7s on Saturday with the hosts winning the Shield.

The Navy side beat High Wycombe 24 – 7 in the final to win the Dr Cherry Cup

Meanwhile, Abingdon RFC won the Shield competition with a 61 – 0 victory over Chinnor Falcons at Lambrick Way

They were awarded the trophies by leader of the Abingdon Town Council Mike Badcock and town mayor Cllr Alice Badcock (pictured below)

Oxfordshire strikes gold in Olympic medal haul

IF Oxfordshire were counted on its own the county would be 18th in the Rio Olympics results table of countries ahead of the likes of South Africa, Jamaica and Argentina, with just days to go before the end of the Games.

Athletes from Oxfordshire were victorious across five different events but the treasure haul is in no small part down to the success of rowers from Henley's Leander Club.

Oxfordshire is also responsible for 20 per cent of Team GB's record breaking total of 89 individual medals with 18.

Leander Club the world's most successful club in terms of Olympic medals – with 123 – account for 12 medals at this year's Rio Games.

A glorious victory in the men's eight on Saturday was the culmination of a brilliant week of rowing for Team GB with five Leander men, and former Oxford University rower Andrew Triggs-Hodge taking GB to victory over Germany.

Their victory followed on from the historic silver in the women's eight.

By Dominic Thomas

Britain's first in the event - which saw four Leander rowers complimented by Oxford's Frances Houghton and Olivia Carnegie-Brown pip Romania to second place behind the USA.

Fellow Leander Club rower Alex Gregory repeated his 2012 success with a gold in the coxless four along with fellow double champion and former Oxford University rower Constantine Louloudis.

There was also a fairytale ending for Oxford Brookes Chancellor Katherine Grainger who made it to her fifth Games and became Britain's most decorated female Olympian, with a silver in the women's double sculls, just missing out on gold to the pair from Poland.

She held the title until Team GB cyclist Laura Trott overtook her medal haul on Tuesday.

Grainger 40 had looked set to miss out on Rio after failing to make the women's eight team, but was given a late chance to make history after reforming her couples partnership with Leander's Vicky Thornley.

Outside of Team GB Spanish Oxford-born canoe sprinter Marcus Walz claimed gold in the single K1 1,000m kayak sprint, despite being fifth in the field half way through.

There was an upset in the women's windsurfing, as former Cheney School pupil Bryony Shaw finished in sixth despite being a favourite for a medal.

Also on the water, Banbury kayaker Angela Hannah finished her Olympics with a seventh place ride in the K2 500m sprint B final with partner Lani Belcher.

There was no silverware either for Lower Stanton's Kitty King as part of Team GB's eventing team on her first Olympic outing.

Rounding off the action for Oxfordshire was 110m hurdles hopeful Lawrence Clarke, from Watlington who was run out at the semi final stage on Wednesday after finishing fourth in London 2012.
